

Oscar Records Discography

Oscar Records was a subsidiary of Alshire Records. In 1972 they started the label with over 50 reissues, probably to introduce a budget label to be sold in store racks with a bang. Many of the releases were by the 101 Strings, but renamed the "Strings Unlimited." As with other budget rack product, sometimes they didn't even bother to give the artist a new fake name, and just left the artists anonymous.
